READ ALOUD TO START THE HUNT

Incoming Transmission

Calling Astronauts!

This is Ground Control. We have a problem! Our satellite lost its signal, and the launch thrusters on the space station won't start without it.

Our engineers have placed five radio beacons around the station. Each beacon holds a rhyming riddle that points to the next one. Track them all down to reboot the system.

Remember your astronaut training: stay with your crew, move carefully, and count down out loud every time you find a beacon. Reach the final beacon and the thrusters will fire!

Your first beacon is attached. Ground Control out!

Over and out,
Ground Control
